the wedding of the year! Evan. I have been wanting to see this movie for over a year now but can never seem to find the time. I keep forgetting. It comes out this Friday and I figured I better get to it before the holidays get in the way. Evan. I have been wanting to see this movie for over a year now but can never seem to find the time. I keep forgetting. It comes out this Friday and I figured I better get to it before the holidays get in the way. Good luck.

You are in for a treat. Oh, so I don't need luck. Trust me that will be no problem. So, here's the good news. My sister, Emma and her boyfriend, Matty, are getting married on Christmas Day. They are having a small wedding right here in Madison and their venue is attached to St. Paul's church. The church is a beautiful place with a grassy area right in front of the altar and I saw a picture of the place and it really does have an amazing view of the city. I hope to come to the wedding so I can see it for myself. Wow. You go from St. Paul's on Christmas to a wedding.

You must be full of Christmas spirit! St. Paul's is amazing. The location is incredible. I believe I may have mentioned that earlier. I am excited for the wedding. I am not sure if I am going to try to go on Christmas day or not but I think it may be a bit too much of a commitment. We are usually in the camp that it is about the season. Christmas is about being together with the family and we are not really a family. We will celebrate the
